Bologna Children's Book Fair 2021

The BCBF-BLTF Global Rights Exchange – Free participation for Exhibitors and Visitors 2019,2020, 2021

The BCBF-BLTF Global Rights Exchange (GRE) 2nd edition is online. Developed with the US platform PubMatch, the platform has been completely revamped, with brand new features which make it not only a substitute for the in-person fair across the four days but a useful tool for the children's publishing industry all year round.

It is reserved for Exhibitors registered for BCBF and BLTF 2019, 2020 and 2021, and it is offered free of charge until 31 December 2021. Visitors to BCBF and BLTF 2019 and those who registered for BCBF 2020 are also invited to participate again. All visitors will have access to all titles offered by Exhibitors, and be able to contact them via the new translatable chat feature, and video call functions. Visitors will not, however, be able to upload titles.

The following industry players are authorized to access the GRE 2021:

- Publishers
- Agents/Licensing agencies
- Scouts
- Licensees
- Licensors
- Developers
- TV and Audiovisual Producers

New features for 2021:

- Chat with translation: registered Exhibitors and visitors can chat in their own language. Group chats will also be available;
- Instant video meetings: a video chat can be started during a chat session with visitors and Exhibitors simply by clicking on the video-chat command, without the need to schedule a video meeting on another platform. Screen sharing will also be available during video chats;
- Inviting clients and key contacts: each GRE-registered Exhibitor will receive unlimited passes to invite other publishers and agents not registered with the GRE to use the platform and attend meetings. This offers lasts until 31 December 2021;
- A section dedicated to the Bologna Licensing Trade Fair for BLTF Exhibitors to offer their licences in the same way as BCBF Exhibitors. The two BCBF and BLTF areas on the GRE will be accessible free of charge to Exhibitors and visitors of both trade shows.
